

PROJECT ACCOUNT ENGINEER

JOB OPENING DATE: 14TH OCT, 2009

LOCATION

Jaivel Europe Limited, Mansfield - UK

JOB DESCRIPTION

You will be responsible for managing projects where the core activity is the provision of Digital Manufacturing Solutions for our Aerospace component machining customers.

Your prime responsibility will be to understand each individual customer's requirements and based on that, finalise the full manufacturing process including: selection of machine tools, design of fixtures, selection of cutting tools and CNC programming for the project.

You will either execute the projects alone or will be able to delegate to a team of engineers, taking final responsibility for the execution and good governance of the project.

You will primarily be based in the UK at our Mansfield Office, but there will be the necessity to perform activities on customer sites within the region and occasionally in other areas of the UK. Some International travel will also form part of the role.

QUALIFICATION/EXPERIENCE

You are a born communicator with exceptional knowledge of manufacturing complex aerospace components. Your career path could possibly include, manufacturing, with time spent on the shop floor and progression through various positions such as Planning, Programming and Manufacturing Engineering.
